

SCHÖNE AUSSICHT 2012 (Bright View)

8th International and 14th Baden-Württemberg Children and Youth Theatre Festival
16th until 24th of June 2012 in Stuttgart, Germany

Every 2 years the festival SCHÖNE AUSSICHT (Bright View) in Stuttgart focuses for one week on international and Baden-Württemberg Children and Youth Theatres. Extraordinary performances from Europe and abroad are presented to the public, both theatre people and the young audience, to show the amazing variety of theatre arts for children and youth. Since 2004, the festival is organised and curated by Junges Ensemble Stuttgart (JES), the city's Children and Youth Theatre and since its opening one of the most renowned theatre houses for a young audience in Germany.

At the 8th international Children and Youth Theatre Festival Schöne Aussicht 2012, selected ensembles from Belgium, the Netherlands, Switzerland, Italy, Hungary and South Africa show theatre and dance productions, performances and installations on a high level of quality and with this give an overview of the state of the art in children's and youth theatre in an international context.
During the last 10 years SCHÖNE AUSSICHT has become the major international festival for children's and youth theatre in Germany.

Along with the international programme, ten theatre companies from Baden-Württemberg show their latest productions and discuss them with other theatre professionals. Workshops and open discussions about children's and youth theatre, its aims and latest developments add to the week's programme. The festival distinguishes itself also through the fact that the encounters and conversations between the participating groups are an integral part of the programme. These kinds of "work meetings" enable a collegial exchange that is inspirational and valuable to all.

It is one goal of this renowned festival to strengthen networks for theatre makers, to initiate exchange and give impetus for the theatre landscape. Thus, cooperation and co-productions can arise from the festival to ensure quality and future of theatre for young people. It is the intercultural experience in this unique festival that is highly valued by participants: because in our internationally structured world and in our every day working experience, intercultural exchange and knowledge becomes more and more important.
